-  Aggregated data: There are not enough data available to give specific information for the course: this may be because the course size is small, or because it is a new course. For this reason, the information may include data from previous years, or other courses at the institution in the course's wider subject area. For example, if the course was in Forestry, information for all agricultural and related subjects at the institution might be shown.
-  Estimated data: These data are based on the modules the institution expects students to take rather than actual module choices.

The site draws on official data on higher education courses collected from the following sources:
